Thanks +Samir Rubingisa - lots of good stuff buried deep on the web. And the math introduced to it makes it a very curious subject matter all around.

according to vedic literature the sun emits 100 thousand different types of rays and the moon emits 72000 different types of rays which controls the life on this earth plane by interacting with the astral body of various beings, curious humans have 72000 astral nerves in their astral body, to achieve this level of control these spider beings have to be interdimensional, yes i know old literature depict spiders as the gatekeepers of the astral worlds, make sense? thanks for your great work

@japamen12 - thanks for the link! the idea of both the sun and the moon generating different "rays" to the earth definitely ties to the idea of the moon, the sun, and other satellites in our solar system transmitting "octaves" to earth as part of the larger Land Management System. There is also some Hatybov research that equated the 8 main octaves to different parts of the spine. I hope to get something posted on that at some point. All of this does seem to comingle; unfortunately, I am not up on my Vedic literature. I'll check out your Youtube video - thanks again for the comment
